

Duane McHodgkins

Author & small-business owner

Practical conversations about business resilience, education choices, and building your own path.

MEET DUANE

Duane McHodgkins owns Duane's Reliable Computer Services, serving small businesses and individuals in the Denver area since 2010. His books explore business resilience and alternatives to the traditional college path. He brings a working entrepreneur's perspective, plain-English explanations, and practical questions that help listeners consider their next step.

CONVERSATIONS YOUR AUDIENCE CAN USE

Staying useful when business changes

What business owners and workers can learn from people who adapted during the pandemic.

Does everyone need a college degree?

Questions students and parents can ask about college, skills training, and alternative routes.

Turning experience into opportunity

Lessons from running a service business, building relationships, and earning customer trust.

QUESTIONS TO START THE CONVERSATION

- What did the pandemic teach you about staying useful when circumstances change?
- What do you want readers to question when they see the title The Higher Education Scam?
- What can someone do this week to explore a different career or business path?

BOOKS

Lessons from the Business Heroes of the Pandemic

Resourcefulness and adaptability for business owners, independent workers, and employees.

The Higher Education Scam

Debunking the Myth that Everyone Needs a College Degree

A look at education choices and routes beyond a universal college expectation.

Find both books on Amazon

PREVIOUS PODCAST APPEARANCES

Living My Side Hustle

Sales Made Easy

Make Your Day Richer

Listen via the full media kit

INVITE DUANE TO YOUR PODCAST

duane@duanemchodgkins.com | duanemchodgkins.com